

12 Two experiments, X and Y, were carried out using an enzyme from humans.

Experiment X was carried out at a constant temperature of 37 °C. During experiment Y, the temperature was increased from 37 °C to 80 °C. All other factors were kept the same.

Which graph shows the results?

