

Question number	Answer	Additional guidance	Mark
5(a)(i)	C is the correct answer as habituation is a long term physical change D is not the correct answer as sensitisation is a learning process resulting in amplification of a response B is not the correct answer as absorption relates to fluid movement A is not the correct answer as adaptation is a change in behaviour		(1)

Question number	Answer	Additional guidance	Mark
5(a)(ii)	A is the correct answer B is not the correct answer C is not the correct answer D is not the correct answer		(1)

Question number	Answer	Additional guidance	Mark
5(b)(i)	An answer that includes three of the following points: • Male and female crabs respond differently to the predator • Female crabs showed greater habituation than male crabs • After 10 exposures there seems to be variability in the data		(3)

Question number	Answer	Additional guidance	Mark
5(b)(ii)	A is the correct answer B is not the correct answer C is not the correct answer D is not the correct answer		(1)