

- 26 Irrigating crop plants with water containing low concentrations of salt causes an increase in the concentration of salt in the soil.

What explains why the increase in salt concentration could eventually kill the crop?

	water potential in roots	water potential in soil	direction of water movement
A	decreases		out of the roots
B	increases		into the roots
C		decreases	out of the roots
D		increases	into the roots