

31 Which mechanism accounts for the way most of the carbon dioxide is transported in blood?

- A Carbon dioxide dissolves in plasma and is carried in solution.
- B Carbon dioxide is converted to carbaminohaemoglobin inside red blood cells.
- C Carbon dioxide is converted to carboxyhaemoglobin inside red blood cells.
- D Carbon dioxide is converted to hydrogencarbonate ions inside red blood cells.