

- 38 Certain bacteria develop resistance to an antibiotic by actively transporting the antibiotic out of the cell. This prevents the antibiotic building up to toxic concentrations.

What must be found in a bacterial cell to allow it to develop this form of antibiotic resistance?

