

- 30 Atrial septal defect (ASD) is a heart defect found in some newborn babies. ASD is an opening between the right and left atria.

What are possible effects for babies born with ASD compared with babies born with no ASD?

	blood in pulmonary artery	blood in aorta
A	less oxygen	same level of oxygen
B	less oxygen	more oxygen
C	more oxygen	same level of oxygen
D	more oxygen	more oxygen