

- 12 A student carried out investigations at pH 1–8 to look at the effect of pH on an enzyme-catalysed reaction.

The optimum condition for this enzyme is the acidic environment of the stomach at pH 1–2.

The remaining substrate concentration was measured after five minutes at each different pH.

Which graph shows the effect of increasing pH on substrate concentration remaining after five minutes?

