

- 61 A selection pressure is a biological or physical factor in an environment that may result in evolution.

Which of the following situations result in selection pressures on one or more organisms?

- 1 clearing rainforests to grow palm oil plantations
 - 2 introduction of a predator to islands with seabird colonies
 - 3 long-term use of antibiotics in hospital wards
 - 4 using an insecticide to kill the mosquitoes that spread malaria
-
- A 1 and 2 only
 - B 1 and 4 only
 - C 2 and 3 only
 - D 1, 2 and 3 only
 - E 2, 3 and 4 only