

- 26 ATP is used in companion cells to provide the energy for loading a sieve tube element with sucrose.

How does the co-transporter mechanism use this energy?

- A to pump protons into the sieve tube element
- B to pump protons out of the companion cell
- C to pump sucrose into the sieve tube element
- D to pump sucrose out of the companion cell