

|          |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |          |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 6(a)(i)  | coronary (artery) ;                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 1 |
| 6(a)(ii) | slow rate of ventricular contraction suggests that impulse generation / AW, (from SAN) is, slower rate / too slow I not at the correct rate or (SAN) initiating heartbeat / acting as pacemaker / setting heart rate, is, abnormal / faulty ; described relationship between SAN and ventricles ; e.g. SAN sends out, wave of excitation / electrical impulses / impulses / AW, across atria I signals R nerve impulses R electronic impulses / electricity impulses impulses reach ventricles (for contraction) through AVN | 2 |
| 6(b)     | (impulse via alternative pathway will) increase, heart rate / rate of ventricular contraction ; plus one from: (because normally) AVN, delays / slows, impulse (conduction to ventricles) ; A pathway does not have AVN, so not delayed ventricles, contract / in systole, too soon / prematurely or atria (still) contracting when ventricles (begin) contracting ;                                                                                                                                                                                                  | 2 |