

- 22 The RNA triplet UAG acts as a stop codon terminating the synthesis of a polypeptide. The diagram shows a strand of DNA which codes for four amino acids.

Where would an insertion mutation of a thymine nucleotide result in the termination of translation?

