

14 Which statement about the induced-fit hypothesis of enzyme action is correct?

- A An enzyme that uses the induced-fit mechanism will increase the activation energy of a reaction.
- B The binding of a substrate causes conformational changes in an enzyme.
- C The active site of an enzyme changes to become the same shape as the substrate.
- D An enzyme that uses an induced-fit mechanism has decreased specificity to the substrate.