

- 26 In plants, assimilates such as sucrose are loaded from source cells into sieve tube elements. The assimilates are then transported from source to sink.

What is needed to transport sucrose from source cells through phloem tissue to sink cells?

