

- 19 In eukaryotes, the chromosomes become shorter and thicker during mitosis. The thickening may be increased by molecules called protamines. The protamines replace part of the structure of the chromosome.

Which part of the chromosome is replaced by protamines?

- A centromeres
- B chromatids
- C histones
- D telomeres