

0	1	.	1
---	---	---	---

Exercise causes an increase in heart rate.

Describe the role of receptors and of the nervous system in this process.

[4 marks]

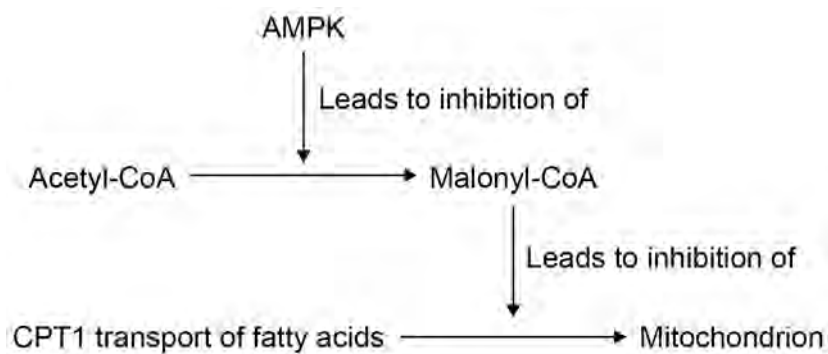

[illegible]

0 1 . 2

AMP-activated protein kinase (AMPK) is an enzyme that regulates a number of cellular processes. Exercise leads to activation of AMPK.

Figure 1 shows one effect of activation of AMPK during exercise.

Figure 1

CPT1 is a channel protein that transports fatty acids into mitochondria.

Using Figure 1, explain the benefit of activation of AMPK during exercise.

[3 marks]
